TABLE OF CONTENTS

INTRODUCTION 1

CHAPTER 1 FOOD SOVEREIGNTY AND RURAL DEVELOPMENT: BEYOND FOOD SECURITY

1.1 Introduction 13
1.1.1 The rise of food sovereignty 13
1.1.2 The food sovereignty approach contrasted against the food security approach 14
1.1.3 So, what is food sovereignty? 15
1.1.4 Marketing 16
1.1.5 Monopoly 18
1.1.6 Crop prices 19
1.1.7 Subsidies 20
1.1.8 Food production 21
1.1.9 Hunger 21
1.1.10 Productive resources control 25
1.1.11 Genetically Modified Seeds (GMS) 26
1.1.12 Climate change 27
1.2 The food sovereignty approach and rural development 27
1.3 Conclusions 30
1.4 References 30

CHAPTER 2 RURAL DEVELOPMENT THINKING, MOVING FROM GREEN REVOLUTION TO FOOD SOVEREIGNTY

2.1 Introduction 34
2.2 The main approaches to rural development thinking 35
2.2.1 Technocratic Approach 36
2.2.1.1 Modernisation of Agricultural Production 36
2.2.1.2 Structuralism 37
2.2.1.3 Neoliberalism 38
2.2.1.4 Neostructuralism 38
2.2.2 Sociological Approach 39
2.2.2.1 Sustainable Rural Livelihoods 39
2.2.2.2 Community Capitals Framework 39
2.2.2.3 Human Scale Development 40
2.2.3 Socio-Technocratic Approach 41
2.2.3.1 Rural Territorial Development (RTD) 41
2.2.3.2 New Rurality 41
2.2.4 Political Approach 42
2.2.4.1 Food Sovereignty 43
2.3 Rural development from the food sovereignty point of view 44
2.3.1 Supportive issues 45
2.3.2 Conservative issues 46
2.3.3 Inclusive issues 46
2.4 Conclusions 47
2.5 References 48

CHAPTER 3 HERITAGE AND PATRIMONY OF THE PEASANTRY: A CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK TO ADDRESS RURAL DEVELOPMENT

3.1 Introduction 52
3.2 Rural development, a ‘wicked problem.' 52

3.3 How to address and solve wicked problems 54
3.3.1 Interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary frameworks 55
3.4 Heritage and patrimony of the peasantry, an alternative analytical framework 57
3.4.1 Rural territory 58
3.4.2 Heritage and patrimony 59
3.4.3 Tangible Patrimony 61
3.4.3.1 Economic Heritage and Patrimony 61
3.4.3.2 Physical Heritage and Patrimony 62
3.4.3.3 Natural Heritage and Patrimony 62
3.4.4 Intangible Patrimony 63
3.4.4.1 Cultural Heritage and Patrimony 63
3.4.4.2 Human Heritage and Patrimony 63
3.4.4.3 Social Heritage and Patrimony 63
3.4.4.4 Institutional Heritage and Patrimony 63
3.5 Quality of life and respect the rights 64
3.6 Conclusions 64
3.7 References 65

CHAPTER 4 ASSESSING RURAL DEVELOPMENT: INDICATORS BASED ON THE HERITAGE AND PATRIMONY OF THE PEASANTRY ANALYTICAL FRAMEWORK

4.1 Introduction 69
4.2 The focus of previous research on rural development indicators 70
4.2.1 Focus on Sustainable Development and Sustainability 71
4.2.2 Focus on Production 71
4.2.3 Focus on Infrastructure 72
4.2.4 Focus on Integrative point of view 72
4.3 Methodology 73
4.3.1 Literature review 73
4.3.2 Second selection of indicators 73
4.2.3 Panel of experts 73
4.2.4 Online survey 74
4.2.5 Selection of participants 74
4.2.6 Statistical analysis 74
4.2.7 Pilot test and Final Selection 75
4.3 Results and discussion 75
4.3.1 Cultural Heritage 76
4.3.2 Physical Heritage 77
4.3.3 Social Heritage 78
4.3.4 Institutional Heritage 79
4.3.5 Human Heritage 80
4.3.6 Natural Heritage 80
4.3.7 Economic Heritage 81
4.4 Conclusions 82
4.5 References 83

CHAPTER 5 HERITAGE AND PATRIMONY OF THE PEASANTRY FRAMEWORK TO ADDRESS RURAL DEVELOPMENT AND ITS APPLICATION IN COLOMBIA

5.1 Introduction 87
5.2 Methodology 89
5.2.1 Selection of indicators 89
5.2.2 Selection of regions to apply the tool 90

5.3 Results 92
5.3.1 Arauca and Sur de Bolivar 93
5.3.2 Gutierrez and Santander 94
5.3.3 Tundama and Gualiva 96
5.4. Discussion 97
5.4.1 Analysis in the Heritages and Patrimonies of the Peasantry framework 97
5.4.1.1 Cultural Heritage 97
5.4.1.2 Physical Heritage 98
5.4.1.3 Social Heritage 99
5.4.1.4 Institutional Heritage 100
5.4.1.5 Human Heritage 100
5.4.1.6 Economic Heritage 101
5.4.1.7 Natural Heritage 101
5.5 Conclusions 102
5.6 References 103

CHAPTER 6 HERITAGE AND PATRIMONY OF THE PEASANTRY FRAMEWORK AND ITS USE IN MEXICO TO TACKLE RURAL DEVELOPMENT

6.1 Introduction 108
6.2 Methodology 109
6.2.1 Heritage and Patrimony of the Peasantry 109
6.2.2 Selection of indicators 110
6.2.3 Selection of regions to apply the tool 111
6.3 Results and discussion 112
6.3.1 Teotihuacan 112
6.3.2 Etucuaro 114
6.3.3 Uruapan 116
6.3.4 Zimatlan 117
6.3.5 Tejupilco 119
6.3.6 Temascaltepec 120
6.4 Breaking and Convergence Points 121
6.5 Conclusions 124
6.6 References 125

CHAPTER 7 PARTICIPATORY IMPACT ASSESSMENT OF PUBLIC POLICIES ON RURAL DEVELOPMENT IN COLOMBIA AND MEXICO

7.1 Introduction 129
7.2 Methodology 133
7.2.1 First phase 133
7.2.2 Second phase 133
7.2.1 Third Phase 135
7.3 Results and discussion 136
7.3.1 Mexico 136
7.3.1.1 Impact assessment on rural development indicators 136
7.3.1.2 Impact assessment on heritage and patrimonies of the peasantry framework 137
7.3.2.1.1 Scenario I: Commercialisation and market development programme 137
7.3.1.2.1 Scenario II: Integral rural development programme 138
7.3.1.2.2 Scenario III: Support to productivity to entrepreneur women programme (PROMETE – in Spanish) 138
7.3.1 Colombia 139
7.3.1.1 Impact assessment on rural development indicators 139
7.3.1.2 Impact assessment on heritage and patrimonies of the peasantry framework 140

7.3.2.2.1 Scenario I: Policies of Colombian Development Plan 2014-2018 141
7.3.2.2.2 Scenario II: Zones of Interest for Rural and Economic Development (ZIDRES – in Spanish) 141
7.3.1.1 Scenario III: Towards a new Colombian countryside. Integral rural reform 142
7.3 Conclusions 143
7.4 References 144

CHAPTER 8 GENERAL DISCUSSION AND CONCLUSIONS

8.1 Introduction 148
8.2 Methodological approaches used 149
8.2.1 Systems thinking approach 149
8.2.2 Interdisciplinary and transdisciplinary approach 150
8.2.3 Critical approach 150
8.2.4 Participatory Multi-stakeholder approach 151
8.3 Empirical and theoretical findings 152
8.3.1 Food sovereignty and food security: complementary or excluding? 153
8.3.2 Political approach to rural development 153
8.3.3 Peasantry legacy 153
8.3.4 An alternative to measuring a complex problem 154
8.3.5 Colombia, the isolation of its countryside 155
8.3.6 Mexico, losing its identity 156
8.4 Policy and practice implications 157
8.5 Final conclusion 157
8.6 References

LIST OF PUBLICATIONS 161
ANNEXE 1 SURVEY FORM 163
Declaration 171

Fabio Pachón Ariza
Rural Development Indicators in Colombia and Mexico:
Supporting the Planning Process of Rural Policy
2017 / 190 p. / 29,95 € / ISBN 978-3-89574-924-7
Verlag Dr. Köster, Berlin / www.verlag-koester.de